

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Saturday 04 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Turning warmer next week.

This Evening and Tonight:
Variable, and at times large, amounts of cloud across much of the UK. Dry for most, but a few showers are possible over eastern Scotland and also Northern Ireland and later western Scotland.

Sunday:
Spells of rain, heavy at times will develop over Northern Ireland and then western and northern Scotland during the afternoon. Elsewhere, dry with cloud breaking to give warm sunny spells.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Widely fine with sunny spells, turning widely very warm, locally hot. Largely dry following overnight rain for some early Monday, although further showers probably arriving into the southwest later Wednesday.
